-: The source of Hair:-

From India's Temples: - India is a country of religions and of so many temples. In India, different religions and their different customs and rituals have been living for the ages in which one of the customs is about sacrificing or more directly you can say "cutting one's hair" on different religious occasions. These sacrificing hair occasions can be many that have different references according to customs and rituals and in many part of India's temples, donating hair is a custom.

Importation:-We directly import from these types of temples in India. We have connections and a good business relationship with those people who help us importing hairs from temples and from other sources in India. The imported hair collections are 100% human. When hair collections come to our factory, they are passed through several quality checks that include different processes and methods and when all quality checks are done then they are readied for selling. For other different hairs, we have collaborations and connections in other countries that export us varieties of different hairs but major part of it come from India's temples.

Rural areas and villages: On the other hand the other sources are villages in India including rural areas too. In these areas women donate their hairs for money purpose. There are many villages and rural areas in India's cities where women sell their hairs and even donate too. These women's hair are quality hair because these women do not use chemical liquid as shampoo and others, even though they oil their hair regularly. Their hairs are all virgin hair that we get. It is all their individual choice. We do not force them. It is just a thing like selling something for money. They only grow them for selling purpose.

Quality of our hair weft extensions: Vipin Hair extension makes sure that those hair collections that are brought to us are 100% virgin human hair. We make them quality checks for selling. Many women think that hair wefts are color chemicalized so they do not use them but we make you 100% sure that at Vipin Hair Extension they are not. They are all natural. Our hair getting sources and destinations are only temples and rural areas in India where hairs are donated and sacrificed on different religious occasions. And sometimes when women make cut their hairs for money purpose for which we pay them.

On the other hand Indian hairs are known for their quality and durability. They are black and straight and also non-shedding. You do not need to worry about them. They are all quality virgin hair that we use for our hair weft extensions. They give you style and look and besides that you can also color them whenever you want without worrying about their quality degradation.
